We offer tours on the following days ONLY. Please select your first choice date preference:

___ Tuesday (date) _____ at 10:45am

___ Wednesday (date)_____ at 10:45am

___ Thursday (date)_____ at 10:45am

Your tour request must be confirmed before your date. Once it is confirmed, any "day of" cancellations or "no shows" will be required to pay a fee of $25 for our associated expenses. You must let us know by the day before if you cannot come for your tour. No exceptions!

To help us conduct a successful and enjoyable tour for everyone, all participants must observe the following safety rules. The contact person is responsible for sharing these rules with all participants, parents, and chaperones prior to the tour.

- Tours are limited to groups of 15 children (10 minimum), ages 4 and up. For the production segment of the tour, larger groups will be divided into smaller groups. No child under the age of 4 is permitted in the back area. Please call us 2 days before your tour date to confirm the exact number of participants in your tour.
- Parents and chaperones must supervise children at all times while in the bakery. Great Harvest assumes no responsibility for supervision. A limited number of parents and chaperones will be permitted in the production area during the tour to ensure that all safety rules are followed.
- Participants must stay with the Great Harvest Tour Guide at all times while in the production area. It is very important that participants not leave the group to wander the production area alone.
- Each tour participant will receive a sample of our yummy honey whole wheat bread and a goody bag at the end of the tour. Please give us advanced notice of any participant with a gluten intolerance or any other food allergy, so we can take necessary precautions.
- This is both a fun and educational experience. Please provide any creative and constructive feedback for improving the tour experience by sending an email to: Caroline at greatharvestATL@gmail.com
